DIANE COSGROVE

Hi Di,
How really glad we got a chance to get close to you. Take care and good luck. And come back and visit me next year. Please. Take care and don't forget me. Call me 696-4195 Love ya Bobbie

Diane,
(Short shit)
Well what were our plans? Partying with more of our buddies at Ridley Creek State Park to celebrate graduation. Did we get to do it? Yes, we did. Remember the picnic and the ice cream and the cake and the candles? Remember the Rally in the rain and the Rally in the sun? Remember the party at your house and the party at my house? Remember the party at the pits? Remember doing the limbo at the party at your house? Remember the party at your house with the Kool-Aid? Last March, here at East we had a visit from a strange group of people. They called themselves cockneys and claimed to be from London. Actually they were part of the cast from the musical My Fair Lady.

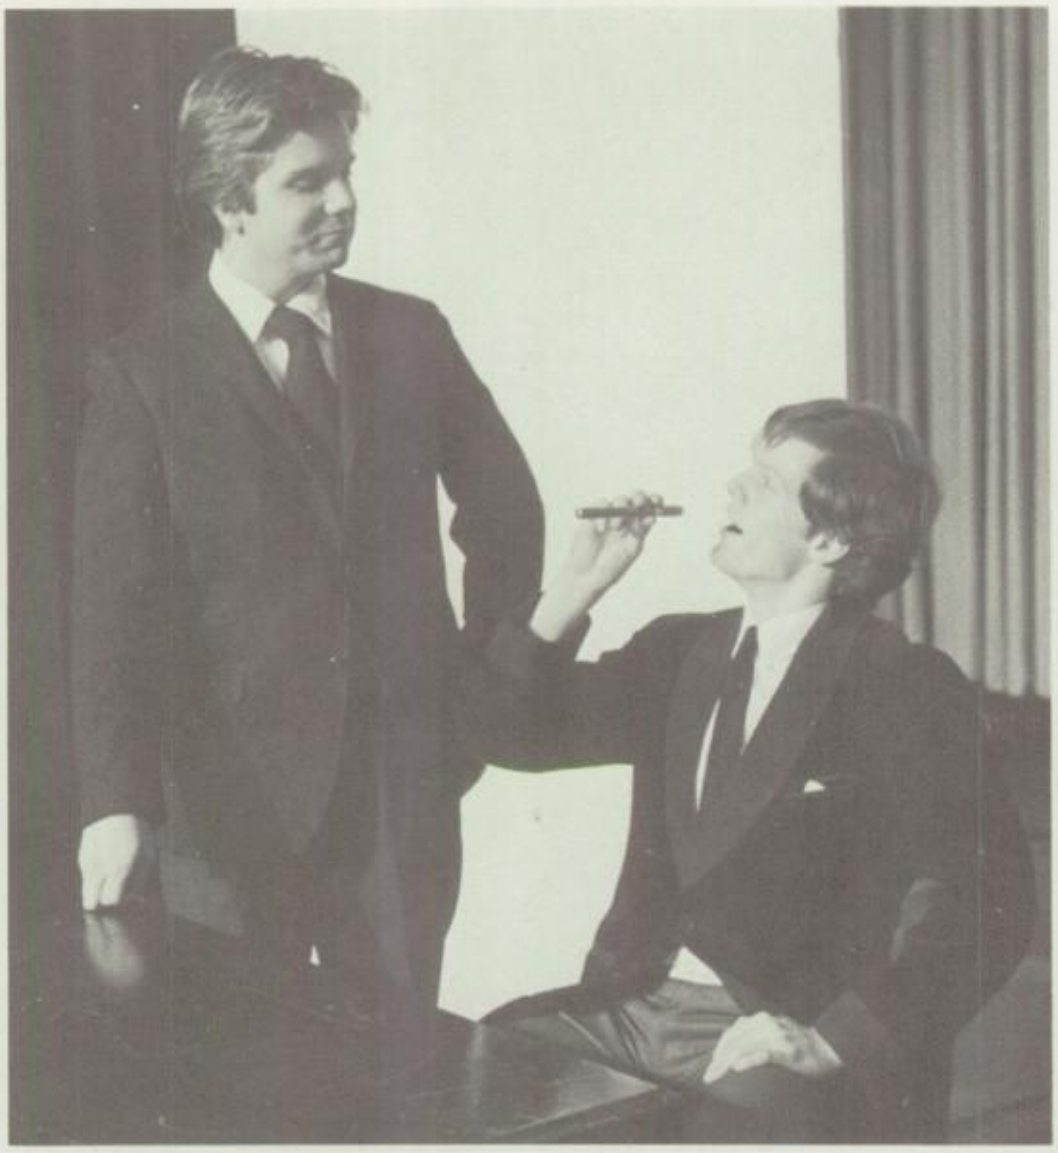
The play told the story of Eliza Doolittle, an uneducated flower girl and Professor Henry Higgins, the man who makes her into a lady in only two short months. Eliza was portrayed by Jiselle Thompson and Marie Todor. Scott Hodgson and Jon Knapp played Professor Higgins on alternate nights.

Dramatic director Mrs. Linda Keeler and vocal director Mr. H. Ray Hunsicker together with our student body produced one of the best shows East has ever performed on stage. It was well deserving of the three standing ovations it received.



Mr. Higgins (Scott Hodgson) and Pickering (Chris Moorehouse) gloat over their victory.

Homecoming, the big traditional fall football game, was brought to East on Oct. 21, with the selling of mum corsages (by NHS) and the return of many alumni faces. This big event was kicked off by the homecoming parade with a float from each class entered in the competition. In conjunction with the homecoming theme "the movies", float choices ranged from the Sophomores "The Sting", and the Juniors "The Wiz" to the award winning "Animal House" of the Seniors.

Though the weather was in East's favor, the game was not. East lost a closely fought battle 6 - 0. Though this was a let down, the dance sponsored that night by the cheerleaders proved to be a morale builded to all who attended. Featured was the group "Outside In". It was a time that will be remembered by all who participated.

als - "the music man", "my fair lady", and "carousel". "dirty work at the crossroads" started a new tradition for the years to come.

Traci King and Jack Quinn become one for Spirit Day.

What do groaning Seniors, t-shirts, and red and gold have in common? They are all part of Spirit week, the short 3 day week before the Thanksgiving holiday and football game. Spirit Week is celebrated to raise school spirit and psych everyone with enthusiasm for the big game against our sister school and cross town rival Henderson. Monday has been designated "t-shirt" day, with students wearing shirts bearing the slogans "scalp the Warriors", and "Beat Henderson Turkeys" (a take-off of the Thanksgiving theme).

The groaning Seniors have participated in Tuesday's Senior Spirit where they did ridiculous things as a jello eating race (no hands are permitted to take the food from the plate to the mouth), banana stuffing (someone else feeds, blind folded at that), and a prune eating contest. Now you know why the Seniors groan.

The week's wrap up on Wednesday is officially Red and Gold, the school's colors, day. The afternoon provided fun with the Turkey Contest where numerous Senior males dress as females to compete against each other. This year's contest ended in a tie with Javier Codas and Jeff Young sharing the honors for the first place.

As crazy as this sounds, it does work. The football team won the big game, 41 to 29. It's amazing just how far a little school spirit can go to build everyone's morale.

The entertainment of this group added to a good spirit week.

perhaps during our last year we saw the most changes. seniors were given new privledges. senior reserve parking became a reality. for East High School was proud to announce the very first Senior play ever to be put on at East. The production was a melodrama called Dirty Work at the Crossroads, directed by Mrs. Linda Keeler. The main purpose of the play, which was presented November 9 and 10, was to raise money for the Senior class. For being a "first", and having a small cast, it was very successful. Approximately 300 to 350 people showed up both nights to cheer the hero and hiss at the villian. Forty to fifty students got involved to make the play a first class hit.

The villain (David Hearn) poisons the Widow Lovelace (Traci King).

Security Necessary to Save $$

Meryl Sonon and Greg Foley demonstrate how to use the new entrance and exit gates.

Upon returning from Christmas vacation, East students were confronted with an imposing apparatus at the entrance to the library. Every year approximately $4500 worth of materials disappear from the library, resulting from theft and students who forget to check materials out properly. The cost of replacing stolen materials and at the same time adding new materials to the collection has become prohibitive. Thus, the new security system was deemed necessary. A student who tries to leave without checking materials out properly is greeted at the exit gate by an alarm, which causes the gate to lock. The signal enables the library staff to recover materials which otherwise would disappear with no record of having been checked out.

Will the system be successful? Only time, and an inventory of the losses at the end of the year will be able to tell if security does pay.

Students first experience with the security system.

Students excel in every trade.

Every morning approximately 75 East students arrive at school, only to reboard another school bus and depart again. Where are they headed? Their destination is the Vocational Technical School of Central Chester County. At Vo Tech, they participate in curriculum study as varied as horticulture to auto mechanics. Classroom instruction plays a part in the education at Vo Tech, but the emphasis is the hands on time these students receive. They actually gain experience in their chosen work fields.

Eleven o'clock rolls around and classes break for the day. But these kids aren't finished yet. After grabbing a bite to eat (either at Tech or in the East cafeteria), they have three academic classes at East which are needed to fulfill graduation requirements.

Is it worth it? These students think so. With diplomas from both Tech and East, they have a definite advantage when they try to secure jobs.

All (or most) of the students in ast are aware of the presence of e ever popular World Cultures acher Mr. Jeffery Heim. We de- ded to ask Mr. Heim some ques- ns and find out what he is real- like.

terviewer: Why did you decide teach?

r. Heim: It was the only college Penn State that didn't require a nguage.

t.: How do you compare your- lf to other teachers?

r. H.: I don't.

t.: Why do you coach wrestling?

r. H.: I never wrestled but a few ears ago East Jr. needed wres- ng coaches and two of us went ead and coached. I really like restling, too.

t.: Why are you always so eery in class?

r. H.: Because it's so miserable verywhere else, and I like what m doing. Besides, I'm the only e there getting paid.

t.: What kind of things do you joy doing in the "real world"?

r. H.: I'm an avid sports specta- r. The only sports I ever partici- te in are tennis and volleyball. lso, I collect stamps. It's a very laxing hobby - stamps don't talk ck.

t.: You're left handed. Do you think there is any difference between left handed people and right handed people?

Mr. H.: Yes. There has been scientific proof that people who are left handed have confused brains. Things that should be on the right side are on the left, and vice - versa. That's why there are many things left handed people are especially good at. As any of my students can tell you, I'm good at being cheerful, yelling alot, and I'm good at adding to confusion. Also, I'm lazy.

Int.: You mostly teach ninth grade. How do you like teaching tenth grade history?

Mr. H.: I love it. It's my favorite course.

(For all of you who don't know what Mr. Heim's Muezzin yell is, it's an imitation of the cry used to call Muslims to prayer)

Int.: Where did you learn your Muezzin yell?

Mr. H.: Actually, I invented it to wake up the class. It's not really genuine.

Int.: It is interesting to note that one year some poor Muslim woman visiting East actually answered the yell. (She really wanted to know why it sounded so strange.) Right, Mr. Heim?

Where would one go in East to find out not only about factoring, polynomials and unit circles, but also about "napp kins" (literally the kin of Napp) and kid napps (a childhood nickname for Mr. Robert Napp)? The logical source to answers for all of the above questions is a certain math teacher found in h.r. 249. Mr. Robert Napp had been a math teacher here at East for three years. He enjoys teaching and if he had to choose a career all over again, he would do the same thing. He likes math because there is "no beating around the bush". As he put it "You either know it, or you don't." The course he likes to teach most is Trig./Advanced Algebra because of the student's participation and consistent involvement. He has enjoyed working with many students, but can't recall a particular favorite. The things that bother Mr. Napp in class are cracking gum, calling out, students talking while he is talking, writing or reading notes and being late to class. If you're waiting to have him for a course, don't say we haven't given you fair warning.

Besides teaching, he is an assistant football coach and in the past has coached basketball and baseball. Overall, it makes for a well rounded and very interesting teacher.

Do you want to know a good excuse to use when you've forgotten your physics homework? Mrs. Dowden has gotten one of the most original answers to that question. A student once told Mrs. Dowden he didn't have his homework completed because he left his window open overnight and his spaghetti bridge warped. Although Mrs. Dowden may appear to be one of the more subdued teachers in this school, she has had her share of unusual incidents. For example, she doesn't believe in cancelling a test, even under extreme circumstances. She recalls the time she was giving a test and the lights went out for two periods. Being the creative individual that she is, Mrs. Dowden made her pupils finish the test by candlelight.

Do you remember the eating contests we had in Jr. High? Perhaps you can recall that one of the participants was dressed as a lady pig. Would you believe under all that whipped cream, bananna, and ice cream was the one and only Mrs. Dowden?

But what is the real physics teacher like? She now lives on a ten acre farm and raises horses, ducks, chickens, and rabbits, but no pigs. She enjoys refinishing antiques, sewing, reading, and gardening. Unique experiences and a unique personality make us glad she shares her scientific knowledge with students at East.

As students at East, most of us have had that existing course known as English XI, and a majority of us have been instructed by Mrs. Monacelli. She is one of the original teachers that came here when the school first opened in 1972. During her classes we had problems with poetry, hand cramps from comps, and trouble with themes. We studied Hemingway, Fitzgerald, and Steinbeck, all of whom just happen to be Mrs. Monacelli's favorite authors.

This year's senior class has been able to know Mrs. Monacelli in yet another way. For the past three years she has been our senior class advisor. She is the one who has had us selling light bulbs, candles, and singing valentines. Mrs. Monacelli became a class advisor because she had a love for organization and a desire to watch the students grow and develop during their stay in high school.

Mrs. Monacelli is also an avid sports fan who will watch anything that's put on television. Her favorite sport is lacrosse, with football coming in a close second. This love of sports combined with the fact that Mrs. M.'s children attend Henderson prompted her to become a member of the boosters club. These activities make for a very hectic schedule and trouble at the Thanksgiving Day football game between Henderson and East.

Last Thanksgiving we wondered who that lone figure standing in the middle of the track halfway between the East seats and the Henderson seats was. Well, it was Mrs. M. She couldn't decide whether to stand with her loving family, or sit with her loyal students. Not wanting to cause a fight, she settled for halfway. No one can ever call her unloyal to either school.

Remember Sophomore Health? Cries of Annie!, being married to someone in your health class. Remember your "egg children" and the trouble you had protecting them? Valhalla remembered these times so well that we decided to have a few words with our favorite sophomore health teacher (sorry, Mr. Hart), Mrs. Lynn Hamelton.

I: Why do you teach?

H: Because I can't do anything else.

I: Do most people spell your last name incorrectly?

H: Yes. It's Hamelton, not Hamilton.

I: Can you confirm the rumor that you have been seen in the East H.S. cafeteria munching out on junk food?

H: Definitely not, My true addiction is caffeine.

I: What sort of things do you do for relaxation out in the civilized world beyond the doors of East?

H: Read trashy novels.

I: Who was your idol when you were growing up?

H: Elvis Presley

I: Is it true that someday you will walk into East as Dr. Hamelton, national health supervisor?

H: Yes.

I: Do you feel that your teaching is superior to that of your rival sophomore health teacher, Mr. Hart?

H: Oh, absolutely. I've told him so many times.

I: Together you and Mr. Hart thought up the Marriage and Egg Children projects. How do you get along with Mr. Hart?

H: We work together well. It took us four years, but we really do.

I: Have any of the marriages you set up ever ended in divorce?

H: Yes. When one girl was informed by her partner that she couldn't have a maid, she got up, shoved her desk at him, and said she was going home to her mother.

I: What is the egg mortality rate at East?

H: Epidemic proportions. The number of concussions, permanent brain damage. Also, numerous eggnappings - the children are never seen again.

I: Has Resusci-Annie ever died on you.

H: No, but I've blown her lungs out.

Finally, we asked Mrs. Hamelton how many well educated people there are out there and we found out that in her eleven year career she has taught 2,760 students, give or take a few.

We thank our advertisers, few as they are, for their support in our first advertising venture. It simply wasn't as easy to organize an advertising campaign as we thought. We ask that you patronize these advertisers as their contributions helped us to improve the quality of our book. They have given us the confidence to attempt this project again next year, when we hope to be more successful.

Diane,
I'm really glad we got to talk and be friends. Never forget 7th grade, the first time I ever met you. Well I have to admit little sure have calmed down a great to know. Take good care in the future and stay happy

Love,
Joyce Boccelli

We wish to extend our thanks and deepest gratitude to all who have helped fulfill our hopes; our hopes of completing this book. We thank ...

... the teachers for understanding our lateness to classes.

... the coaches, teachers and students who helped to identify the pictures.

... Zamsky Studios for having our pictures ready so quickly.

... Vass, the photographer from Zamsky, for having patience with us and taking some neat pictures. We also deeply appreciated Vass and his humor. Photo credits also go to Larry McDevitt of the Daily Local News staff, and Tabby Wolf from East.

... Mr. Tom Williams, our Josten's Yearbook rep, who always helped us with our many problems.

... And last but not least Mrs. Bowers. We thank her most of all. She helped us greatly with anything we asked. We all had very few study halls, but she made sure we all knew everything. If it were not for her we would not have been able to complete this yearbook.

We had our good days and our bad, and we would like to remind Mrs. Bowers that it was once said that "the longest day will have an end."

Diane
Well its finally over, We've been friends for a long time & hope it won't stop with graduation. Always remember the fun times we partied together. Have a great summer. Hope to see you. Keep in touch love Best of luck always

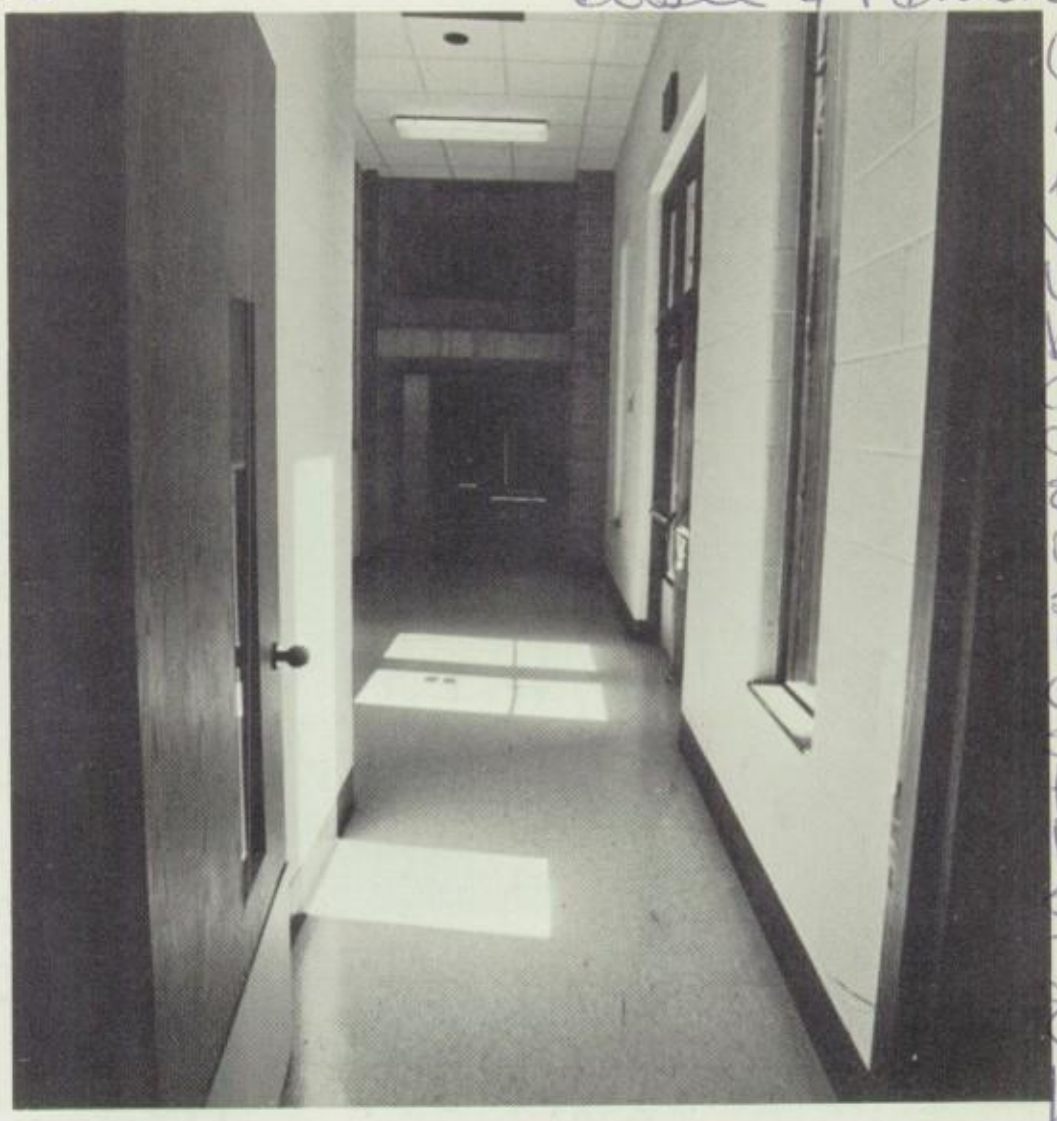
Dreams

Hold fast to dreams
For if dreams die
Life is a broken winged bird
That cannot fly.
Hold fast to dreams
For when dreams go
Life is a barren field
Frozen with snow.

Langston Hughes



We may never pass this way again.

Working on this yearbook was an experience. We had many good times, yet we had some rough times, but the good times pushed them aside. It seemed like there was not enough time between deadlines, and for a while we thought we would never get finished. Trying to get pictures identified and getting names spelled correctly were projects in themselves. Headlines were a problem to us, and we were ready to stop using them, but we pulled through at the end. We did many layouts over and over and over again, for "patience is the key of joy; but haste is the key to sorrow".

We'd like to explain the hodge-podge of our line around, the story you see at the bottom of every page. In an effort to make the 1980 Valhalla a memory book, we attempted to tie world and national events to the year of graduation. Years from now when we again look at our Valhalla, this line should help to put our year in perspective. We had a slight problem with copy fit, and as a result, all the lines are not complete as we submitted them to the printer. In the process of improvement and innovation, some things are more successful than others.

Editors before have said, "it was easy". Last year they said, "it was fun". We do not believe it was easy, but we feel ...

...it was exciting!

Diane,
these lockers with closed written on them explain a part of our life for the last 2 years. They are closed CLOSED for my now and I'll be very lucky to meet and forget all the great people like
you. Don't ever forget DE and Co and all the good times. Always Stay as nice as you are. I'll miss school in a way it's like break

Diane,
We've been friends since 9th grade - but good, good friends this year. It is nice to know who you can your friends are and certainly, you are a friend. There have been so many good, fun, laughing times - and those spent working in Gov't class. Psych. and the mean See. class. Bottom those days are gone behind us, and the road is open to the future and what it will bring, I hope it brings you love, health, happiness, and the time to enjoy them all. Be good to yourself, and take care always. Please keep in touch (692-1935). I hope your future is nothin' but sunshine! - Katie

Diane
What can I say? This year went so quick that I never got the chance to Cataplan to it. We have had many a great time: Cheschenelo
(all most) Betsy McGuirk's house
Cruisin' in the boat, "Lunah" Valley Forge, Arboretum, man I could go on forever. Diane You have been more a good friend. I am sorry to tell to see more to lose. IBTC (had to throw something in) You just have to be coming for Peyer to wise me at school. Oh I can't forget remember setting in the middle of the basketball court at Bryant. Well I guess no time this has been a hell of a Year. And I wish you so much Luck in what you do remember to always do what you want to and most of all be happy. Take Care
Love,
Linda

Diane,
What did I tell you in the last year book that that you and Jeff weren't going to last. So many thing happen sad but true there is always a reason for everything isn't it. I cant believe it little Dia is all ~~done~~ done school. I had alot of fun this year with you. I'll never forget. I'm only saying one more thing before I sign off. Whatever you decided to do Do it, for dream. they come and go but you'll never get the chance again.

Love ya Daughter.

Love you always
